

Robert has been a successful licensed real estate agent since 1991 and a sought-after commercial property specialist in NYC since 2012. Handling your most important commercial real estate transactions with personal and professional service is Robert's ultimate goal.

Robert's high skills, expertise and market knowledge in New York is exceptional. Among his most notable accomplishments was the recent sale of the Herald Square Hotel (now Life Hotel), as well the savvy negotiation of numerous other large commercial transactions, closing over $65mm in both sales and leases combined.

His territory is centered in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens as well as Long Island.

Passionate about Real Estate, he is an extensive networker and currently resides in New Jersey where he is active as chairman of his local rent control board, as well as serving his second four-year volunteer term as Ocean County Committeeman for my district. His in-depth knowledge of real estate and the workings of homeowner associations as well as his local/city government experience is useful in dealing with boards, management, governmental agencies, and another clientele.
